NUMB. 5068

TUESDAY, JULY 16, 1745.

arriv'd a Mail from Holland, and another from Flanders.

Genoa, July 5.

THE Body of Troops, which, in Virtue of our late Treaty, we have granted to the Allies, conſiſts of 15,000 Men, and the Train of Artillery of 36 Pieces of heavy Cannon. We have received, within theſe few Days, 23 ſmall Veſſels, laden with Ammunition and Proviſions. Inaſmuch as the Marcheſe Lomellini, who was ſent to Count Schulemburg, in order to notify the Reſolution taken by our Senate, had no Character whatſoever, except that of Governor of one of our Cities, the Auſtrian General thought fit to make him Priſoner of War. The King of Sardinia has, on the other hand, treated our Conſul, who made the ſame Declaration to him, with all Civility and Politeneſs. The Engliſh Squadron on our Coaſts have already begun to inſult them, and treat us as Enemies; but the French and Spaniards perſuade us, that Things will ſoon wear a different Aſpect. The Enterprize they have undertaken, is very difficult; but if once the Three Corps take the Field in Piedmont, we make no doubt of ſeeing his Sardinian Majeſty obliged to make a ſeparate Peace, how much ſoever it may be againſt his Will; for it is impoſſible he ſhould be able to maintain himſelf in ſuch a Superiority.

Rome, July 18. The Pope's Nuncio arrived here the 13th; which, as ſoon as he had notified to the Cardinals and Miniſters, they firſt ſent to return the Viſit, and then made him their Viſits. As both Armies are now at a conſiderable Diſtance from this City, the Election goes on with ſurprizing Rapidity. The Elector of Mentz and Cologne, but other Members of that College are expected here in Perſon, and Troops are actually preparing for them. A Corps of 2000 Light-arm'd Troops carried off on the 14th inſtant, from the Road near Darmſtadt, 35 Mules, 40 Horſes, and Six Carriages laden with the Baggage of the Marquiſſes de la Farre and Chatelet, which were very rich, and of great Value. Some other Parties of the ſame Troops have had the like Succeſs; and the Auſtrians having furniſhed the Peaſants of the Country with Arms, they are become as good Pandours as the Croats, and have already, in ſome meaſure, indemnified themſelves for the Contributions they have laid them under. In ſhort, there is a Kind of Fair at Saxenhauſen, where the Adventurers ſell to the Jews, and whoever will buy of them, Silver Plate, Lac'd Cloaths, fine Linen of all Sorts of Arms, and good Horſes exceſſively cheap. It is inconceivable what a mighty Trade is carried on, and what immenſe Sums the French have loſt in the Space of Five or Six Days. In all Probability the Auſtrian Army will march directly into Lorrain; where they ſay the People are ripe for a Revolt, and the French have but few Regular Troops. Yeſterday the Grand Duke arriv'd at Mentz, under a triple Diſcharge of all the Artillery, and dined in Publick with the Elector; and continues his March this Day, with his Army, in order to come up with the Enemy, if poſſible, and bring them to an Action, which muſt prove deciſive.

Vienna, July 9. The two Armies in Bohemia continue in the ſame Situation, looking upon each other. The Auſtrians are ſo effectually covered by Marſhes, Woods and Mountains, that it is ſimply impoſſible to attack them till the Pontons join the Army; when it is thought his Majeſty will attempt it in ſpite of all Diſadvantages. On the 29th of laſt Month there was a very briſk Rencounter between the Regiment of Nadaſtowski and Zieten's Huſſars on one Side, and a conſiderable Corps of Uhlans on the other. Our Men loſt between 20 and 30 Men, but the Enemy 150, beſides Priſoners. A few Days ago between 300 Talpaſhes and Uhlans were brought in hither. Some of theſe People have Heads as well as Hearts; for though they were very well arm'd, and marching in good Order, yet having Intelligence that they were ſupported by 8 or 900 Regular Troops, they ſent to the Captain of the firſt Squadron of Dragoons that appeared, to let him know they were not Enemies, but Friends. We have ſince diſcovered that theſe People were cut off from the Army at the Battle of Friedberg, and have been wandering about ever ſince.

Prague, July 20. We have this Moment received an Express from Mentz, with the important News, that the Auſtrian General Berenclau paſſed the Rhine on the 18th, about Six in the Evening, and ſurprized the Town of Oppenheim; but it appears, that inſtead of the 17th, the Date ſhould have been the 15th. In this Town the French had 700 Men, who, before it was fully inveſted, endeavoured to make their Eſcape; but with ſo little Succeſs, that 200 of them were made Priſoners, and the reſt put to the Sword. As ſoon as the Place was taken, the General detached 600 Huſſars to take Poſſeſſion of the French Bridges over the River, which they effected without any Loſs; and have thereby ſeparated the French Army in ſuch a manner, that one Part of it has no Communication with the other; inſomuch, that there is good Grounds to believe it will in a few Days be totally ruined, either with or without an Action. While this happened on one Side the Rhine, a Loſs no leſs conſiderable befel them on the other; for a Body of 6000 Huſſars falling in upon their Rear Guard, where the Prince of Conti was in Perſon, put the Troops into ſuch Confuſion, that they carried off 190 Carriages, 585 Sumpter Horſes, and 55 Mules, with a Booty worth 400,000 Florins. We impatiently expect the Arrival of the next Courier from Mentz, who will probably bring us the News of the total Defeat of the Prince of Conti.

Hanover, July 17. His Majeſty is in perfect Health and Spirits, and has taken ſuch Precautions, that it is believed we ſhall very ſoon ſee the Face of Affairs wholly changed. The Heſſians and Munſterians lately taken into his Service, will march directly into Flanders; 6000 of the Biſhop of Wurtzbourg's Troops, and as many of the Forces of the Duke of Saxe Gotha, are deſtin'd to reinforce the Army of the Grand Duke. Count Konigsfeldt is very ſpeedily expected here from Munich, in order to put the laſt Hand to a Negotiation, by which 12,000 Bavarians will march for the Service of the Queen of Hungary into Bavaria; ſo that by his perfect Knowlege of the Intereſts of the ſeveral Courts in Germany, and his indefatigable Application to Buſineſs, his Majeſty may be ſaid to have ſaved the Empire.

Bruſſels, July 19. The Army of the Allies continues ſtill incamped in our Neighbourhood; they have retrenched themſelves ſtrongly, and are erecting Batteries between Laken and Wilvorden. It is currently reported at Court, that 10,000 Munſter Troops, and 6000 Heſſians, with 4000 Hanoverians, will ſpeedily march into this Country to reinforce them; if ſo, and if the French march 25 or 30,000 Men, as it is highly probable they will, to the Relief of the Prince of Conti, there is no doubt but the Allies will begin to act offenſively once more; and may, perhaps, have it in their Power to drive the Enemy as haſtily out of their new Conqueſts, as they have made them. Our Loſs in Ghent is very conſiderable; for, beſides the Troops that were in the Citadel, and which ſurrendered Priſoners of War, there were 24 Pieces of Braſs Cannon quite new, 600,000 Rations of dry Forage, 15,000 Sacks of Corn and Meal, the Uniform for Seven Engliſh Regiments, and Small Arms for 7000 Men. The French have actually demanded 800 Guineas a Month, by way of Contribution for this City, during the Continuance of the War; but it is thought we ſhall not be ſo complaiſant as to pay them; the rather, ſince it is certain that the Army will remain conſtantly at hand to ſupport us; and, as a Proof of their Attention, have ſent us 1200 Men to mount Guard here: They have likewiſe detached Troops to Louvian, Malines, Antwerp, and other Places, in the ſame Proportion. Yeſterday, and not before, the Town of Bruges fell into the Hands of the French, who have likewiſe made themſelves Maſters of Aloſt and Grammont. His moſt Chriſtian Majeſty has taken up his Head Quarters at Welſicken; and the M. Count de Saxe has eſtabliſhed his at Merlebeck on the Scheld, between Oudenard and Ghent. The Siege of the former of theſe Places is carried on with great Vigour: The Garriſon conſiſts but of three Battalions, Auſtrian, Engliſh, and Dutch. The Governor is an old Officer; and there is no manner of Doubt that he will defend the Place to the laſt Extremity, and even then obtain good Terms.

SCOTLAND.

Extract of a Letter from Selkirk, dated July 6.

'The Juſtices met here the 2d Inſt. to conſider the 'Hon. Mr. Sollicitor's Anſwer to the Letter ſent to 'Edingburgh, for Advice in the Caſe of David Gilles, 'who had aſſumed the Character of Charles Stuart, 'Prince of Wales; Billy Stuart, who now appears to be 'William Rae, of Ireland; John Primroſe, Exciſe Of'ficer; Miſs Simſon, his Siſter-in-Law; and the Girl, 'Simſon's Maid Servant; when it appeared to them 'that the Crown Lawyers did not think theſe People 'much worth their Notice: They therefore conſider'ing that any Puniſhments they could legally inflict, 'were no wiſe adequate to the Crimes they had been 'guilty of; and as they had no Vouchers here for 'proving the blackeſt of theſe Crimes, the Juſtices ap'pointed them to be baniſhed the Shire the 4th Inſtant 'at Noon, by Tuck of Drum, attended by the Hang'man.' LONDON.

There are several private Letters in Town from the Hague, and from Utrecht, which mention the entire Defeat of the Prince of Conti; but tho' it is very far from being impossible this News may be true, yet we cannot positively affirm it.

Some private Advices from Dresden, which may be depended on, assure us, that for certain Reasons (which are not communicated) it has been judged expedient not only to reinforce the Auxiliaries in Bohemia, but to change their Commanders.

By Letters from the Hague we learn, that the Abbe de la Ville, and the Marquis de St. Giles, had made very advantageous Proposals to the States in regard to a Neutrality; but their High Mightinesses excused themselves on Account of their Engagements.

The Baggage of his Excellency Baron Solenthal, Envoy Extraordinary from the Court of Denmark, is all got in Readiness, his Excellency designing to set out in a Day or two for Harwich, in order to embark for Holland, in his Way to Hanover.

Next Thursday there will be another Draught of the Foot Guards, in order to be sent to Ostend, to reinforce that Garison.

To-morrow the Right Hon. the Lord Chancellor will hold the Second General Seal at Lincoln's-Inn Hall, after Trinity Term.

Yesterday the Justices of the Peace for the City and Liberty of Westminster met at the Town Court-House, according to their Adjournment; when several Persons appeared on their Recognizances; after which the Court adjourn'd to the 29th of August next.
